JEWISH NEW YEAR BEGINS TOMORROW

Observed by People of Race as Religious Festival.

Origin of Observance When Israel Occupied Palestine and Season of Work Commenced.

WHAT CELEBRATION MEANS

The Jewish New Year, which begins Wednesday eve and whose observance is continued until sunset Thursday, is, next to the Day of Atonement, the most solemn day in Israel's calendar of holidays. Its observances date back several centuries prior to the present era. When Israel dwelt in Palestine, and was engaged in tilling the soil, and all of its principal festivals were determined and characterized by some particular phase in agricultural life, as plowing, seeding, growth and reaping of the grain and harvesting.

The New Year marked the beginning of agricultural activities in Palestine, and hence the opening of the economic year. After the Jews were deprived of their fatherland and were scattered throughout the world, the observance of this day was, nevertheless, continued, though its character and significance were somewhat changed. Since the Jews were usually governed in civil and economic matters by the laws and customs that prevailed in the land where they dwelt, this day came to be regarded by the Jews as the New Year less in a civil, and more in a religious sense, as it marks the beginning of Israel's season.

Based upon the passage Lev. xxii, 24: "Speak unto the children of Israel, saying, in the seventh month, on the first day of the month, shall be a solemn rest unto you, a 'memorial' of blowing of trumpets a holy convention," it came to be regarded primarily as a "day of memorial," and as the "judgment day," when all the inhabitants of the world, according to an old rabbinical interpretations, pass before the Creator for judgment. Hence the day became one of most solemn significance, and was largely given over to reflection and self-examination, and the days intervening between its commencement and the close of the "day of atonement," were designated as the days of penitence, or the season of repentance. Not that man could not, or would not repent on any other day, for it was a common saying, "repent one day before thy death (i.e., every day, for no man knoweth the day of his death), by the rabbi of old, understanding well that there is a time for everything, and knowing that in the strain and stress of every day life, most men find but little time for reflection and self-scrutiny and repentance, thought it desirable that man should have a special season of self-communion and repentance, during which he might live on a higher and loftier spiritual and moral plane.

It is the beginning of this season, that the holiday, which falls on Thursday next marks, and so deeply has it entered into the consciousness of the Jewish people, and so great is the tradition and the age and the custom attached to it, that almost every one who calls himself a Jew will observe this day and the Day of Atonement, even though he observes nothing else that is Jewish.

Nearly every Jewish house throughout the country is closed on the day, and all work and labor suspended.

The New Year day has its own joyful and joyous aspect, too, even as the civil New Year has. New Year cards are sent from one to the other and New Year's greetings and visits are commonly exchanged. Thus it becomes a day of serious contemplation and self-communion on the one hand, and a day of hope and cheer and good fellowship on the other, which sunny day is characteristic of most Jewish festivals.

RAINS DO DAMAGE

To Section Near Lincoln, Nebraska Bridges and Tracks Swept.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 18.—A tremendous rain which fell in and around Lincoln last night and today caused heavy damage. The Union Pacific suffered at Valparaiso, Raymond and Wahoo. The Northwestern's track was also damaged. In Raymond, four inches of water fell in a few hours. Many bridges were run through the streets.

NEW GUARD FOR CZAR CHOSEN.

General de Dioulin to Succeed Treppoff at Imperial Palace.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 18.—General de Dioulin, former prefect of St. Petersburg, will succeed the late General Treppoff as commandant of the imperial palace. The police at Warsaw today discovered the headquarters of the revolutionaries in Leszno street and seized a supply of bombs and weapons and important documents. Two territorial documents. Two terrorists were executed in the citadel of Warsaw yesterday.

GOV. BECKHAM AT MAYFIELD.

Spoke to a Packed Courthouse of Democratic Voters.

Mayfield, Ky., Sept. 18.—Governor Beckham spoke here yesterday to a packed courthouse of Democratic voters. He spoke about one hour and a half, during which time he received the very closest attention. He was very respectful in speaking of his opponent, Senator McCreary, but his exposition of his critics was strong and severe. He made a fine impression.

MORE MONEY

NEEDED TO BUY MATERIAL FOR HOSE DRYING EQUIPMENT.

Sufficient Funds Appropriated Only to Build "Drying House" for One Station.

The fire and police commissioners have rejected the appropriation of the council for "drying houses" for the Nos. 2, 3 and 4 fire stations because it is not sufficient to build the three houses.

"Seventy-eight dollars will build one dry house; that is the timber bill will be covered by this and the labor will be furnished by the firemen," Chief Woods stated. "We want three houses and it will take a total of $234 for the three. The dry houses will make it possible to dry hose quickly, thus preserving it, and will be economical. It will save the city hundreds of dollars on hose, especially 'rag hose' which rots when not immediately dried."

Archbishop and Cardinal.
Baltimore, Md., Sept. 18.—Archbishop Ireland, of St. Paul, and Bishop O'Gorman, of Sioux Falls, S.D., who came to Baltimore yesterday to pay their respects to Cardinal Gibbons, left for Washington today. The Archbishop had a conference with Cardinal Gibbons today but would not disclose its nature.

TYPHOON

DESTROYS SHIPPING IN PORT OF HONG-KONG.

Kills Hundreds of People, Mostly Sailors, and Wrecks Vessels—Without Any Warning.

Manila Sept. 18.—Without the slightest warning Hong Kong was visited today by a terrible typhoon, which swept across the island on which the city is located and wrought great damage in the harbor. The news was cabled from Hong Kong. Great property loss is reported and hundreds of lives. It is reported the coast for miles is lined with the wreckage of small craft, caught in storm, and driven ashore. The loss of life is heaviest among the crews of vessels in port. A hundred sailors lost their lives in the breakers. The German steamer, Joanne and the British steamer, Cheung, went down with all hands. It is reported. Business is at a standstill. The natives are almost in a panic.

Mr. Arthur Y. Martin has returned after a long visit in central Kentucky for his health.

SEWER DISTRICT IN ROWLANDTOWN

Committee of Whole to Discuss Project Tonight.

Will Require Six Districts to Drain Paducah With Four Sanitary Outfall Sewers.

COUNCIL PLANS FOR FUTURE

In committee of the whole, and separate sessions last night the general council ratified the contract with the Thomas Bridges Sons for the construction of the sewer in district, No. 2, between Ninth and Thirteenth, Jones and Trimble streets, and tonight the two boards will meet jointly again for the purpose of considering plans for sewer district, No. 3. This, it is understood, is to take in Rowlandtown and the section of the city north of Trimble street to the western limits.

It will require six districts to completely sewer Paducah. Districts, No. 1 and 2, extend from the river to Thirteenth street and Jones street to Trimble street. District No. 3, will comprise the northern section. District, No. 4, perhaps, will embrace the territory between Jones street and Island creek, the river and the western limits, while Mechanicsburg necessarily must have its own district.

Districts, No. 1 and 2, use the same outfall main for sanitary sewerage, having also a storm water outlet back of the railroad shops. District, No. 4, will connect with this system.

The others will all have separate outlets into the river. The proposed district, No. 3, will drain into the Ohio river in the north end of the city.

The work will not be undertaken this year.

ON SKULL

YOUTHFUL TERRORS OF HELLETTOWN SWEAR.

"Jesse James, Jr., Gang" Confess to Stealing Books After Plotting to Murder.

Easton, Pa., Sept. 18.—Two members of the "Jesse James, Jr., gang" of Hellertown, which had planned, among other crimes, to wreck a train, burn up a mill and blow up a hall, were arraigned before Judge Scott today, pleaded guilty to the larceny of books from the public school buildings at that place, and were sent to the house of refuge.

Chief of Police Zimpfer testified that "Capt." Nast had made a confession after his arrest in which he told of the oath each member of the gang had taken. The oath follows:

"I swear on this skull, the emblem of death, to be true to the Black Flag under which I have enlisted. I will be faithful and true to my comrades in all action and will obey the commands of my captain. Father or mother, wife or child shall not be sacred in my eyes if my duty demands their death. If I fail in any of these things, may I be killed and my bones left to bleach like this skull I now grasp. This is my oath."

WONDERFUL AUTO.

Stensland's Scheme for Self-Oiling Motor.

Chicago, Sept. 18.—Bank President Paul O. Stensland, in his Steel Ball company, rivaled the famous Keeley as a money hopper for the credulous. A mysterious automobile, according to a machinist who worked at the plant of the Steel Ball company, constituted its entire output. This automobile is estimated to have cost $182,500. It takes rank as the most expensive automobile in the world.

The automobile had for its mystery part a device by which the machine was to be oiled automatically for an indefinite period, regardless of the flight of time or the caprices of the Standard Oil company. All that the prospective owner had to do was to buy the machine. Automatically it did all the rest, including the payment of Evanston fines for exceeding the speed limit.

THEFTS ON OCEAN LINER.

Many of the Passengers Are Placed Under Suspicion.

New York, Sept. 18.—The American liner New York reached her pier with many of her passengers unconsciously under suspicion. On the way over J. S. B. Thompson, of Atlanta, reported that he had been robbed of a Swiss gold watch valued at $1,000, and a day later J. Carroll Payne, of the same place, reported to the captain the loss of $350. As soon as the New York could reach the wireless station a local detective agency was informed, and it had several men on the pier when the vessel arrived. They consulted the steamship officers and examined several of the employees, but no arrests were made.

ZIMMERMAN IS NOW FOR BRYAN

Ohio Democrat Unreservedly Endorses Nebraskan.

Springfield, O., Sept. 18.—John T. Zimmerman, conservative candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination in 1903 against Tom Johnson, has broken his silence of a year or more and comes out squarely for Bryan. Zimmerman admits he supported Bryan in a lukewarm manner in 1896 and in 1900, but says he is now for him unreservedly. He declares Bryan has said nothing about government ownership that any conservative Democrat cannot endorse. He believes Bryan does not expect to make it an issue, but to hold in reserve as an ultimate remedy in case present laws are not effective.

$200,000 DEFALUTER IS CAUGHT.

T. W. Alexander, Missing Head of Georgia Cotton Firm, Is Caught.

Augusta, Ga., Sept. 18.—Thomas W. Alexander, head of the largest cotton firm in Augusta, who two months ago disappeared after having defaulted for approximately $20,000, has been arrested by a private detective agency in Pittsburgh and has agreed to come back to Augusta without requisition papers.

SCIENCE TEACHER

RESIGNS AFTER ONE TRIAL AND ANOTHER IS SOUGHT.

Principal Is Needed for McKinley Building, the Latest Addition to System.

One day was the extent of Prof. M. C. Vick's service in the High school as master of science. He did not feel capable of doing the work, and resigned the position yesterday afternoon. "It is not an easy matter," said Supt. Lieb, "to secure a man who can fill the position, but I have telegraphed three teachers and expect to hear from one of them at once. I hope to secure a man for the place by the end of the week."

Prof. G. F. Miller, of Farmington, Mo., who has accepted the position of assistant principal at the High school, is detained and will not reach Paducah this week. He probably will be on hand Monday.

This morning Miss Mary Brazelton was installed as a teacher of English in departmental work. She is a sister of Miss Ada Brazelton.

The McKinley school is crippled by lack of a regular principal. The place is being held open because of the fact that the arbitration committee has not acted. Attorney John G. Miller is away from the city and cannot attend. Until he does the committee cannot meet.

Prof. J. M. Billington, county school superintendent, acted as principal at the McKinley school last week. This week Prof. C. Harrison, of the county schools, is acting. The officials are anxious to get this position filled.

B. & O. Connecting Link.

New York, Sept. 18.—The Tribune says: E. H. Harriman and his associates, it was said yesterday, in quarters usually well informed, have acquired control of the Baltimore and Ohio and propose using it, with probably the Chicago and Alton as a connecting link in forming with the Union Pacific through line from ocean to ocean.

Stewart Withdraws.
Denver, Colo., Sept. 18.—It was announced that Philip B. Stewart, of Colorado Springs, the Republican nominee for governor of Colorado has withdrawn from the ticket on account of ill health.

SENTENCED FOR LIFE WAS JAMES GRAHAM

End of What Promised to be One of Paducah's Murder Mysteries. He Confessed.

TRIAL LASTED JUST FIVE MINUTES

SPEED OF JUSTICE.

Killed Claude Bass Aug. 21. His victim died August 23. Bass identified August 26. Graham caught Sept. 11. Made a confession in jail. Was indicted September 15. Given life sentence today.

James Franklin Graham, 19 years old, pleaded guilty to murdering Claude Bass and robbing him of his money this morning in circuit court and in five minutes after he was arraigned and entered his plea he was en route back to jail sentenced to imprisonment in the penitentiary for life.

Graham took the punishment calmly and his abject appearance as he sat with downcast eyes and hung head excited pity.

On the night of August 21 Claude Bass and James Graham met at Ninth street and Kentucky avenue, and got drunk. They went on the north side to see women. Graham suggested a skiff ride and they walked to the river to secure a skiff but could not rent one. It is presumed that Graham had the idea of striking Bass with an oar and probably stunning him to secure the money and then drop him into the river.

Failing in this attempt the two started towards Sixth street and when the rear of the old Durrett slaughter pen was reached, Graham secured an iron bar and attacked his companion. He must have struck him several blows judging from the condition of Bass' skull when his body was found the next morning.

Bass was taken to Riverside and operated on but he died the next morning. Graham had left town but returned the night before Bass died. Learning the next morning that his victim had expired, Graham left and did not return until a few days ago when he was arrested by Policeman F. M. Matlock.

In the meantime Policeman James Clark had worked up the case and secured an affidavit from Mrs. Fletcher to the effect that Graham came to her house the night of the murder, washed blood from his hands and confessed to her he had killed a fellow named Bass with an iron bar, because he would not go to sleep so he could rob him without hurting him.

At first Graham denied everything. Two days later he confessed that he did kill Bass but in self-defense. He claimed he did not rob him, however, but that he had to strike because Bass attacked him with a pistol. He claimed he did it with wagon spoke.

Saturday Graham weakened, and told Policeman James Clark all the facts, but still stuck to the self-defense plea. The confession was printed in full in the Sun.

Sunday and Monday Graham deliberated. He seemed worried and would not talk much about the murder. He would say little to reporters and visitors and this morning while in jail announced that he was tired of the fight and was going to give up.

"I am going to plead guilty," he stated when being taken to the jail, "and will beg the mercy of the court."

Graham was arraigned, the indictment read by the clerk, and a plea of guilty entered. The indictment was explained to the jury and Commonwealth's Attorney John G. Lovett, recommended, on account of Graham's age, to fix his punishment at life imprisonment in the penitentiary.

The jury so declared without leaving the room.

Graham appeared weak and sick. He would talk to no one.

Graham has a mother, Mrs. Jeanie Shaw living near Terrell and Sixth streets.

Mystery Cleared.
The conviction of Graham clears up what promised to be Paducah's most startling murder mystery. Bass had laid unconscious in the weeds from 10 o'clock at night until 8 o'clock the next morning and when found there was not an article on his person by which to identify him. His face was bruised and crushed beyond the possibility of recognition. He came here from Grayville, Ill., the Saturday before the murder and he was not identified until after his body was buried. Then several false clews led the police astray until Patrolman Clark secured Mrs. Fletcher's affidavit.

Partly cloudy tonight and Wednesday with probably showers in east portion. The highest temperature reached yesterday was 90 and the lowest today was 70.

NEWS OF KENTUCKY

HIGHLAND DENMARK DIES.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 18.—Highland Denmark, probably the world's greatest saddle horse sire, was found dead in his stall by John L. Gay this morning. He was the sire of more money-winners in the show ring than any other horse in the history of the American show rings and was himself unbeaten up to his six-year-old form.

BLUEGRASS FAIR OPENS ITS GATES.

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 18.—The big street parade, which marked the opening of the Bluegrass fair today, was the largest seen here since the first Elk's fair, several years ago. The fair opened under auspicious circumstances, with a record-breaking first day crowd in attendance. The management of the fair suffered a loss of over one thousand dollars early this morning by a fire which broke out in the temporary stables erected for the use of the cattle rings.

20,000 AT STATE FAIR.

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 18.—Kentucky's state fair opened today under the most auspicious conditions. Bright skies and warm, breezy temperature vied with the gorgeousness of the displays in delighting 10,000 people who were on the grounds before 2 o'clock.

At 4:30 o'clock the crowd in attendance was estimated at 20,000. Even the management was surprised by the army of people which began streaming through the gates before the exhibits were in actual readiness.

TOBACCO CROP BURNED.

Mayfield, Sept. 18.—A barn belonging to Hart Austin near Dublin, burned Saturday afternoon and about 4,300 sticks of tobacco were burned. The tobacco belonged to Bunk Burgess, Dock Toon and Hart Austin. The loss of barn and tobacco is about $480. Two years ago Mr. Austin's residence burned and he lost all his household effects. Last year all his tobacco burned. Three other barns were destroyed during the week in that neighborhood. R. T. Courtney lost his barn containing two thousand sticks of tobacco. Fayette Brower lost a big barn filled with tobacco as did Kit Ballard. The buildings caught while the weed was being fired.

RACE WITH DEATH.

Typhoid Fever Patient Hurrying to Caseyville.

Near death from typhoid fever contracted in the lumber business in the swamps of Missouri, P. E. Cain was brought to the city on the Dick Fowler last night accompanied by his brother John Cain, his sister Mrs. Cook and W. H. Nun. He was being carried to Caseyville, Ky., from Anderson, Mo. He was on a cot and this morning suffered a sinking spell, which prevented their departure over the railroad for their destination. They left on the John Hopkins at noon but he was not expected to reach home alive.

FAVORS NEW ROUTE.

Inspector Looks Over Melber Rural Mail District.

Mr. W. L. Cleary, rural route inspector, yesterday went over 26 miles of the new route proposed for the Melber and Lovelaceville district and talks favorably of its establishment. Twenty-six miles is too long for one route, especially when the mail does not leave Melber until 11 o'clock in the morning. This would keep a good man and horse hustling to cover the route daily. It will have to be cut down. The route was laid out by the petitioners. Inspector Cleary went south from Paducah.

DUMMY TRAIN

Hauls Express and Baggage From Broadway.

Because of the collapse of a part of the Cross creek bridge on Caldwell street leading to the union depot, dummy trains are being run by the Illinois Central to accommodate the transfer and express companies. The dummy trains carry all express and baggage matter from Eleventh street and Broadway. Engine No. 129, in the switching service, and a big box car are used. Mr. John Lehnhard, the engine foreman, is in charge.

PRIMARYS IN NEW YORK.

Primary elections are held in New York city by both the Democratic and Republican parties today. Much interest is taken in these primaries this year because of contests for control being waged against B. B. Odell, Jr., the present head of the state Republican organization, and Charles F. Murphy, head of the Tammany Democracy.

ASYLUM SCANDAL FOR GRAND JURY

CHARGES THAT CRUELTY CAUSED DEATH OF INMATE.

Investigation Was Stopped Before it Reached Frankfort by State Official.

LEXINGTON IS STIRRED UP

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 18.—The charge that the death of Fred Ketterer, of Ashland, was due to his treatment by certain attendants at the Eastern Kentucky asylum in this city, has created a sensation. It is alleged by the family of the dead man that an investigation into his death was prevented by a prominent Democratic politician who is a candidate before the coming primary. Ketterer was a member of the Ashland, Ky., Lodge of MacCabebs and that body drew up resolutions condemning the treatment alleged to have been administered to him, but before the resolutions could be sent to the governor and board of control it is alleged the Democratic official, himself a member of the same lodge in Ashland, prevailed on the committee not to take any action until after the election.

J. Franklin Wallace, a former attendant at the asylum, resigned shortly after the Ketterer affair and went to Ashland and placed the family of the dead man in possession of the facts as he knew them and worked up the evidence, which will be presented to the grand jury here next Monday.

From the steady fall in the last 72 hours, it seems that the river will go to a low water stage unless rains bring it up. The gauge registered a fall of 0.9 this morning in the last 24 hours. The stage is 9.5. Business was good at the wharf today.

The Clyde arrived from the Tennessee river last night and went on down to Joppa to deliver freight. The Clyde will leave Wednesday evening for the Tennessee river.

The Scotia will be let into the river Wednesday or Thursday from the dry docks. The Henrietta will get off in a few days and the Royal and Gate City will take their places.

The John Hopkins was the regular packet today for Evansville at 11 o'clock.

It will be an indefinite time before the Joe Fowler goes back into the Evansville trade, now being filled by the Dunbar. After the new wheel is completed, the boat will be painted and other minor repairs will be made. The river also may get too low for the Joe Fowler, which would keep the Dunbar in that trade until the fall rise.

Observers of river stages probably noticed yesterday that the river fell at every point. This happens only rarely.

Two barges were pulled out on the ways yesterday for caulking.

The Dick Fowler left two hours late yesterday morning on account of the absence of two officers who were summoned into court. The trip to Cairo this morning was far.

OFFICIAL FORECASTS.

The Ohio, from Evansville to Cairo and the Tennessee from Florence to the mouth will continue to fall during the next several days.

The Mississippi, from Chester to Cairo, no material change during the next 24 hours, with a falling tendency.

PARK BOND ISSUE ELECTION MEASURE

Introduced By Board of Councilmen Last Night.

Delegate to Be Sent to Waterways Convention at Portsmouth—Why Streets Are Dark.

WOULD REFORM BILL BOARDS.

The general council met last night in joint session and ratified contracts made with Thomas Bridges' Sons, of Wabash, Ind., for building sewer district No. 2, and also for building sidewalks in several parts of the city. Each board later ratified the contracts separately. The council later in its regular session voted to place the matter of issuing $100,000 for building city parks. The two boards also in joint session agreed to meet tonight to take some definite action towards building sewer district No. 3.

Councilmen's Board Meeting.

The board of councilmen met first with Councilmen Crandall, Herzog, Katterjohn and Oehischlaeger absent.

The minutes of the last regular and called meetings were read and adopted.

Committee of the Whole Meets.

Mayor Yeiser's suggestion to have a recess for a few minutes in order to hold a meeting of the committee of the whole was adopted.

Mayor Yeiser suggested a meeting of the committee of the whole and Mayor Yeiser was made chairman.

Mayor Yeiser stated that he called the meeting of the boards as a committee of the whole because Thomas Bridges' Sons desire to begin the work at once. Mayor Yeiser stated that some complaint had been lodged from "poorer classes" and he invited remonstrances from any one present. He stated that the original contract did not call for laterals and on this account some property owners did not want the contract ratified for sewer district No. 2. Mayor Yeiser carefully read two contracts with the Bridges firm, the latter providing for the building of the laterals.

The action of the board of public works in awarding both main sewers and laterals contracts to the Bridges firm was ratified. The bond was fixed at $10,000, the time limit fixed at March 1, 1907.

Any modulations or changes to be made, shall be made only by the board of public works or sewer committee of the general council. The latter motion was unanimously adopted as a whole.

The meeting of the committee of the whole was adjourned.

Aldermen Meet.

The board of aldermen was called to order with all members present.

Mayor Yeiser read his call for a ratification of the contracts. The usual formality was gone, through with. The action of the board of public works was ratified in both contracts, the sewers and laterals.

Mayor Yeiser was instructed to sign both contracts. The laterals are for 46 cents the lateral foot.

The board of aldermen then adjourned.

Committee of Whole Again.

A call of the roll was had to test the attitude of the boards toward a meeting of the committee of the whole tonight to take action for the creation of sewer district No. 3. The boards voted the meeting.

The meeting then adjourned.

Council Resumed.

The board of councilmen resumed session at 8:30 o'clock.

Mayor Yeiser "cited" the action in donating $500 to the Commercial club, and stated that the money had been called for but was not available.

Mayor Yeiser read a letter requesting the attendance of Paducah delegates to the Ohio Valley Improvement association, asking that a delegation be sent to Portsmouth, O., on October 17 and 18 and that $200 be appropriated to defray the delegate's expenses.

Hon. S. A. Fowler was present and made a few explanatory remarks relative to the importance of Ohio river improvements. He stated that $200 was a small amount to ask for, considering the importance of the interests involved. The matter was referred to the finance committee.

Mayor Yeiser stated that a municipality meeting of the United States would be held September 26, 27 and 28, and suggested that two delegates be appointed. The motion was ratified. Mayor Yeiser and J. Q. C. Taylor, of the board of public works, will be the delegates.

Mayor Yeiser was authorized to sign both main and lateral sewer contracts with the Thomas Bridges company.

Solicitor James Campbell stated that some specific arrangements had to be made to go over private property.

The board of public works and sewerage committee were authorized to take this matter in hand.

Bids from William Husbands and J. E. Jones for work on Mechanicsburg streets improvements were referred to the council by the board of public works. The board of public works considered the bids too high.

Councilman Barnett stated that the work carried with it the building of fills, and called for a little more money to make the improvements. He stated that he had heard no complaint from property owners, and that they understood thoroughly the conditions. He stated that the matter was satisfactory to all property owners. He stated that Husbands' bill was the best possible as he had based his bids on taking dirt off some streets and making the fills.

The contract with Husbands was ordered closed and the contracts ordered signed. The property is that adjacent to the McKinley school house.

Thomas Bridges' Sons, of Wabash, Ind., secured contracts for building sidewalks on Fourth street from Husbands street to Norton street; Fountain avenue from Jefferson street to Monroe street, and Jones street from Ninth street to Eleventh street. The work will be started at once.

Mayor Yeiser stated that on North Ninth street where improvements are being made, property owners have refused to move fences back. He asked an expression. Mayor Yeiser stated that he would go ahead and make narrower sidewalks rather than get into a controversy.

Solicitor Campbell, after having informed that the property owners are encroaching on the city, stated that the fences can be removed.

On motion the city engineer was directed to move such fences even if the property owners objected.

The mayor was instructed to advertise for coal bids for the year for all city plants and institutions. The coal is to be weighed over the city scales.

City Clerk Bailey reported that an appropriation of $78 for lumber to build drying bins for drying hose was allowed by the boards. The board of fire and police commissioners rejected the matter. No action was taken.

The matter of refunding J. M. Key's money paid in for liquor license, was filed away.

Several transfers and deeds to lots in Oak Grove cemetery were ratified.

The board of public works was authorized to fill in the hollow between Third and Fourth, Harrison and Madison streets, for better drainage.

A petition from property owners for concrete pavements, curbs and gutters on Tennessee and Ohio streets from Second street to Thirteenth street was favorably acted on.

The report of the finance committee for the half month amounting to $7,002.50 for salaries and accounts, was received and filed.

Ordinances Acted On.

Ordinance to place the matter of issuing $100,000 bonds for city parks first passage.

Councilman Duvall asked to be excused and left.

Ordinance for the improvement of Clay street west of Seventeenth street to Nineteenth street.

City Solicitor James Campbell stated that the court of appeals had passed on the matter of the city passing ordinances for street improvements when specifications had not been prepared, and that he thought it safe for the city to pass such ordinances to remain in the hands of the board of public works until the engineer had prepared the specifications.

The Clay street ordinance was given first passage.

Ordinance for the improving of Boyd street from Sixth street to Seventh street, first passage.

Ordinance for sidewalks on South Sixth street from Tennessee street to Norton street, first passage.

A report was received from the board of public works concerning the light plant.

The board of public works was asked to explain why portions of the city are in darkness. It is because an armature has burned out.

City Engineer Washington stated he had received but two sets of plans for Island creek bridge.

An application from E. C. Eaker, Eighth and Boyd streets, for a saloon license, was referred. The location was not definite.

An application from H. H. Evans, at 628 North Twelfth street, for a liquor license was granted.

An application for liquor license from John W. Counts & company, 103 South Second street, was granted.

Several deeds and transfers to lots in Oak Grove were ratified.

New Business.

Councilman Van Meter moved that the board of public works be asked to cut down the street expenses because the fund has been overdrawn. Carried.

Mr. Yates, of Mechanicsburg, stated that a mistake existed in regard to a sidewalk on Farley street. He stated that the ordinance committee and engineer had been instructed to draft such an ordinance, and it has been six weeks since this action was taken.

He also scored the board for delay in repairing an alley, to which nearly all the property has been dedicated. He stated that conditions are so bad that the city really is maintaining a nuisance. He spoke as if the residents would bring suit unless the city took immediate action.

He owns a great deal of property in that locality himself, he said.

President McBroom stated that all the property owners would not, or had not dedicated, and until they did the city would not act.

Mr. Yates declared that the city solicitor had been instructed to bring condemnation suits.

The city solicitor stated that he had received no such instructions.

The street committee and board of public works were instructed to see if they could make a compromise for the property.

Mayor Yeiser stated that there was an alley between Fourth and Fifth, Jackson and Adams streets, that he wanted opened, and that if the city succeeded he would offer a bonus as he was a property owner in that vicinity. The motion to refer for an investigation was adopted.

Councilman Williamson stated that he had a "pet alley," one between Twelfth and Thirteenth, Jefferson and Monroe streets. The solicitor suggested arbitration before condemnation. The matter was referred to the committee.

Councilman Hill called attention

War on High Cigar Prices

has come to an end, and the victor is—the smoking public.

2,000 American druggists, by the establishment of the National Cigar Stands Co., have abolished all payments of tribute to middlemen, and made it possible for the smoker to purchase his cigars at one small retail profit over what the cigars cost, instead of two or more big ones, as formerly.

The National Cigar Stands Co. neither owns druggists nor is owned by them—it is the druggists themselves (the undersigned among them), acting in unison so as to secure advantages which, as individuals, they could not secure.

This union of stores gives in its aggregate selling, the greatest cigar outlet on earth; owns its own brands; controls its own factories. Its members can now offer better cigar values than have ever been offered before.

CUBA-ROMA

Clear Havana Cigar, at 5 cents

is an example. It is a 3 for 25c. cigar, with the profits of four middlemen left out. It is automatically maintained in an artificial Cuban climate until handed to the customer.

There are six National Cigar Stands in Paducah at the following addresses and only at these stands can National Cigars be obtained.

Daily Thought.

A FLAUNTING SHAME.

Judge Reed has taken a step in regard to the Kentucky avenue bawdy houses, which cannot help becoming popular. The idea of letting these brazen creatures, who ply their horrible traffic in human life and virtue within sight and sound of Broadway, within plain view of the public library and the route traveled by High school girls every day, appear before the commonwealth's attorney once or twice a year, and the police judge every six months and submit to nominal fines, is more obnoxious than permitting them to pursue their course unmolested. The exactation of a nominal fine at stated periods looks too much like levying tribute, a sharing of the profits of sin. Possibly the commonwealth through its court can accomplish something toward ridding the city of the presence of this awful debauchery of womanhood. At least, the court may compel the white slave owners to move their market place back from Broadway and allow decent people to travel the principal street of the city without being compelled to look on the abhorrent spectacle of the latrine houses, and their painted inmates, every day of their lives.

CARNIVAL PEOPLE PAID.

Chief Collins Induces Layton to Pay Half Expense.

Through the efforts of James Collins, chief of police the stranded carnival folks were provided with transportation back home this afternoon. Most of the show people came from Chicago and were brought to Paducah by William Layton. Ever since the ghost failed to walk at the close of the show Saturday night the city hall and police station have been besieged by the stranded folk. Chief Collins placed himself in personal charge of relieving the strangers of their misfortune. After every other effort had failed the big chief corralled William Layton this afternoon and told him that something should be done to help the actors and girls that he had imported to Paducah. Layton furnished half of the expenses. The carnival committee of the Central Labor union readily came up with their half and the show folks were sent on their way.

DISPLAYED BY OFFICER FROM TENNESSEE.

Kidnapped Negro in Paducah, but Lost His Prisoner on Way to Train Last Night.

A Tiptonville, Tenn., officer came to Paducah and kidnapped a negro under the nose of the police and was taking him to the train when the negro made a break for liberty. The officer started after him, but the negro was a better runner. The prisoner escaped and the officer returned home. He probably will know more about the law when he comes to Paducah again.

Policeman Aaron Hurley tells the story: "The fellow came to Paducah yesterday and kidnapped a big one-eyed negro wanted in Tiptonville for carrying concealed weapons. The officer got the negro and the first I saw of him he was on the car about 4 o'clock going to the depot. At the Cross creek culvert the car stopped and passengers were transferred. The negro made a break and ran. So did the deputy sheriff. The deputy made a good race but was outstripped.

"Catch him, Mr. Marshal, catch him;" he cried at me. I replied directing him to do the catching himself.

"In about ten minutes the officer returned. He had his hat in his left hand, his coat over his shoulder; and his pistol in his right hand. He was puffing some. When he got on the train which was just pulling out he cried back to me to send the negro on if I found him. I told him that I would put him on the train and send him if I caught him."

THE O.K.

BETTER SCHEME THAN MR. BRYAN'S

Improve Waterways and Regulate Transportation.

Comparison Between Industrial Classes in United States and Great Britain.

SOON HAVE HUNDRED MILLION.

Washington, Sept. 18.—If Miss Democracy is a bit disappointed that Mr. Bryan should bring her as his chief gift on his return from foreign travel nothing more alluring than his advocacy of the government ownership of railroads proposition, which she feels does not well become her, it remains to be seen whether he will tactfully withdraw it to be placed in a dim political garret with certain other family relics. As a partisan issue calculated to dominate a future platform, Mr. Bryan himself must be disappointed, to put it mildly, at the rapidity with which such prominent Democrats as John Sharp Williams have declined acquaintance with the subject. That the government ownership policy, however, in a somewhat unexpected and unpartisan manner, will not be without effect on the action of the next congress, is not doubted, since local politicians have been quick to recognize that many of the ideals which Mr. Bryan seeks are to be found through such increased appropriations for the improvement of the rivers and harbors of the country as will enable the government to complete improvements necessary to a national system of cheap water transportation, which will act as an efficient regulator. Since the means which Mr. Bryan has advocated for just these ends have not been cordially received, it is generally admitted that the alternative offered in waterways improvements will now gain added support. The national rivers and harbors congress, which is laboring to bring about the necessary increased appropriations, makes its strongest argument on the ground that an adequate system of water transportation, heretofore lacking through lack of money, would at once be the best possible cheaper and regulator of rates. Perhaps the most anomalous feature of the whole situation lies in the fact that, while Mr. Bryan put forward his government ownership proposition as a purely Democratic doctrine, the cause of waterways improvements, which it is expected will derive so much benefit from it, is essentially non-political receiving support from Democrats and Republicans alike.

Industrial Classes.

While the cry for more settlers continues unabated from many parts of the country, Uncle Sam meanwhile being busy with his immigration laws to insure a desirable class, economic and social developments in the United Kingdom indicate that emigration from it is going to increase largely in the future. Whether the United States can obtain these home-seekers is, of course, another question; but the experience of Dr. Bristol, of this city, who has just returned from a comparative investigation of the conditions under which the working man lives in Scotland, indicates that more and more home-seekers are anxious to leave Great Britain. Judging by Dr. Bristol's statements, a Republican campaign committee could not find enough to enthuse over among the United Kingdom's laboring classes to furnish material for one page of campaign literature. The working man there is dissatisfied with his environment and naturally wants to get away. Practically there is no comparison between the conditions under which workingmen live in Scotland and the United States. In speaking of the former country, Dr. Bristol says: "Just as in America hopefulness and ambition is the dominating note, there despondency marks the whole attitude of the people. In many great cities drunkenness is so nearly universal as to pass without comment or thought of arrest." While this will mean increased emigration, there is evidently something rotten somewhere, and an interesting light is thrown on the situation by a prominent British financial expert, who predicts a loss of from $250,000,000 to $500,000,000 in the next ten years through municipal securities. Indeed, it is becoming plainer that the reaction is coming, since the slogan of public ownership is not so loudly shouted as formerly. In Glasgow, where the one idea has been to municipalize everything, the policy, aside from financial loss, has resulted in a city of crowded tenement dwellers who live under conditions which would not be tolerated by the American workingman. Nor does the effect seem to have been confined to Glasgow; for the parades in London of thousands of unemployed, asking not alms but work, are still fresh in memory. Altogether there seems to be a dissatisfaction on the part of the British workingman with existing conditions, which, in the light of Dr. Bristol's investigation will result in an increasing number of immigrants to this country from the island kingdom. The United States seems to be a common mecca, a fact which shows that there was more truth than poetry in Uncle Joe Cannon's remark that this is a very fine country—or words to that effect.

A Toothless Race.

Are Germans to become a toothless race? Is beer drinking conducive to bad teeth? These are the questions which naturally arise from the interesting report just received from Consul General Guenther at the state department relative to the teeth of school children in Germany. According to these figures, the little German, while he may be long on imperialism and an inherited ability to consume beer, is decidedly short on good masticators, for they show that of the 31,720 teeth belonging to the 1920 school children examined, only 3,047, or less than one-tenth is sound. The boys seem to have a little better of the situation, for in their case the results show 12,826 defective teeth against 2,116 sound ones, about one in six being good. With the girls, 15,747 defective teeth were found against only 931 sound ones, giving the inspired ratio of 16 bad ones to one good one. Of the 482 boys examined, only 19 had defective sets of teeth, while of 558 girls only 16 were similarly equipped. Among the 482 boys, 397 sets of teeth were unfit for the mastication of food, and 396 children showed constitutional ailments due to poor teeth. The total results showed 90 per cent of defective teeth, with only 25 out of 1920 children having sound sets. Truly Germany would seem to be an overlooked mecca for the dentist.

Candy Inspector.

For those who, preserving a sweet tooth, feel that to satisfy their desire and at the same time secure a fair salary by so doing would just about suit, Uncle Sam is at present offering an opportunity for fulfilling an ideal on the order of that which in childhood has animated not a few to believe that the quintessence of happiness, manhood reached, would be found in the possession of a candy shop with a consequent unlimited consumption of his goods. In other words, the government wants a confectionery examiner who shall pass on the merits of candy, chocolate and the like, and for the services of this important individual it is willing to pay a salary of $1,800 a year. Whether or not this is a sufficient sum to recompense the expert for the probable loss of digestion, remains to be seen, although it is reported that the consumption of candy has increased throughout the country on account of the fact that candidates for the job are training their hardest for the examination, which occurs on the last of the month.

100,000,000 Soon.

The country is progressing steadily towards the 100,000,000 mark in population. The estimate of the treasury department just given out for the entire population on September 1 places the figure at 84,693,000, for each one of whom there was $32.59 in circulation.

In these days of rush and hurry courtesy is often forgotten. In the mad, pell-mell rush of our life little things are done to offend that we rather remained undone. A hastily eaten meal and its resultant headache may cause us social or financial loss. The wise man or woman is the one who relieves little ills of this sort by a little dose of Kodol for Dyspepsia. THRILLING ROMAN RACES.

Revival of the Sensational Arenic Contests of the Days of Nero.

A revival of the old Roman hippodrome races on an elaborate scale is promised as one of the interesting incidental features of the Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth when it exhibits here September 27. In connection with the Roman chariot and standing races, there will, it is announced, exciting clown races, obstacle races, pony races with monkey riders; tandem races, high-jumping contests and long-leaping contests with Kentucky and Arabian thoroughbreds, and many other events of interest to genuine lovers of the incitements of the racing-tracks.

A great deal of money, it is said, has been expended upon the Barnum & Bailey hippodrome this season. The circus performance that precedes the hippodrome races is also, according to preliminary reports, of such an unusually high character as to create a new record in arena achievements. There is big aerial-automobile-sensation; mid-air somersaults by two daring bicycle riders; up-to-date riding, acrobatic and aerial numbers by a company of three hundred European and American artists, including Josie Demott, the only somersault equestrienne; three herds of elephants in a novel battle scene; several new trained-horse acts; a new spectacle allegorically depicting the last days of the Russo-Japanese war, and entitled "Peace;" a complete collection of rare wild animals, and many other displays of a novel and infrequently seen character.

The Bath ComedyBy AGNES and EGERTON CASTLE
Authors of "The Pride of Jennico"

COPYRIGHT, 1900, BY EGERTON CASTLE

"Some trifling quarrel. Hot headed young men! It is very reprehensible, but we must not be too hard on young blood. Young blood is hot! Well, well, trust in a merciful Providence, my dear Lady Standish. You know, not a sparrow falls, not a hair of our heads, that is not counted. Was the—ah—quarrel about cards, or some such trifles?"

"It was about me," said the afflicted wife in a strangled voice.

"About you, my dear lady!" The clasp of the plump hand grew, if possible, a trifle closer, almost tender. Lady Standish was cold and miserable. This warm touch conveyed somehow a vague feeling of strength and comfort.

"About me," she repeated, and her lip trembled.

"Ah, is it so? And with whom does Sir Jasper fight?"

"With Colonel Villiers," said she, and shot a glance of full misery into the benign, large featured face bending over her.

"Colonel Villiers," repeated the bishop in tones of the blunkest astonishment. "Not—eh, not—or—old Colonel Villiers?"

"Oh, my lord," cried Lady Standish, "I am the most miserable and the most innocent of women!"

"My dear madam," cried the bishop. "I never for an instant doubted the latter."

His hold upon her arm relaxed, and she withdrew it to push away the tears that now began to gather thick and fast on her eyelashes. The bishop wondered how it was he had never noticed before what a very pretty woman Lady Standish was, what charming eyes she had and what quite unusually long eyelashes. It was something of a revelation to him, too, to see so fair and fine a skin in these days of rouge and powder.

"And yet," sobbed Lady Standish, "tis my fault, too, for I have been very wrong—very foolish. Oh, my lord, if my husband is hurt I cannot deny 'tis I shall bear the guilt of it!"

"Come, tell me all about it," said the bishop, and edged from his chair to her side on the sofa and reposefully himself of her hand. She let it lie in his. She was very confiding. "We are all foolish," said Dr. Thurlow. "We are all, alas, prone to sin." He spoke in the plural to give her confidence, not that such a remark could apply to any bishop of Bath and Wells.

"Oh, I have been very foolish," repeated the lady. "I thought, my lord, I fancied that my husband's affection for me was waning."

"Impossible!" cried his lordship. But he felt slightly bewildered.

"And so, acting upon inconsiderate advice, I—I pretended—only pretended, indeed, my lord—that I cared for some one else, and Sir Jasper got jealous, and so he has been calling everybody out, thinking that he has a rival."

"Nevertheless," said the bishop, "he has no rival. Do I understand you correctly, my dear child? These suspicions of his are unfounded? Colonel Villiers?"

"Colonel Villiers," cried she, "that old, stupid red nosed wretch! No, my lord, indeed, there is no one. My husband has my whole heart." She caught her breath and looked up at him with candid eyes swimming in the most attractive tears. "Colonel Villiers," cried she. "Oh, how can you think such thing of me? But my husband will not believe me. Indeed, indeed, indeed, I am innocent. He was jealous of Lord Verney, too, and last night fought Mr. O'Hara."

The bishop smiled to himself with the most benign indulgence. His was a soul overflowing with charity, but it was chiefly when dealing with the foibles of a pretty woman that he appreciated to the full what a truly inspired ordinance that of charity is.

"My dear child, if I may call you so, knowing your worthy mother so well, you must not grieve like this. Let me feel that you look upon me as a friend. Let me wipe away these tears. Why, you are trembling. Still we not have more trust in the ruling of a merciful heaven? Now, I am confident that Sir Jasper will be restored to you uninjured or with but a trifling injury. And if I may so advise, do not seek, my dear Lady Standish, in the future to provoke his jealousy in this manner. Do not openly do anything which will arouse those evil passions of anger and vengeance in him."

"Oh, indeed, indeed," she cried, and placed her other little hand timidly upon the comforting clasp of the bishop's, "indeed I never will again!"

"And remember that in me you have a true friend, my dear Lady Standish. Allow me to call myself your friend."

Here there came a sound of flying wheels and frantic hoofs without, and the doorbell was pealed and the knockers plied so that the summons echoed and re-echoed through the house.

"Oh," screamed Lady Standish, springing to her feet, "they have returned! Oh, heavens, what has happened? If he is hurt I cannot bear it; I cannot—I cannot!" She clasped her head wildly and swayed as if she would have fallen. What could a Christian do, a gentleman and a shepherd of souls, but catch her lest she fall? Half mad with terror, she turned and clung to him as she would have clung to the nearest support.

"Have courage," he purred into the little ear. "I am with you, dear child. Have courage."

So they stood, she clasping the bishop and the bishop clasping her, patting her shoulder, whispering in her ear, when Sir Jasper burst in upon them.

It was his voice that drove them apart, yet it was neither loud nor fierce—it was only blithely sarcastic.

"So!" said he.

What was it Stafford had said: "There's the bishop of Bath and Wells. He's red, as red as a lobster, from toe to toe. They have a way, these di-vines." Oh, Stafford knew, doubtless all Bath knew! Sir Jasper cursed horridly in his heart, but aloud only said, "So!"

Lady Standish flew half across the room to him, with a joyful cry, but was arrested midway by his attitude, his look. The bishop said "Ahem" and "Ahem" again, and then said he:

"I rejoice—I rejoice, Sir Jasper, to see you return unscathed. Lady Standish has been greatly distressed."

"And you," said Sir Jasper dryly, "have been consoling her."

"To the best of my poor power," said the bishop, and felt, he knew not why (if, indeed, it were possible for him to feel that way), a shade uncomfortable.

Sir Jasper closed the door and bowed.

"I think," said he, "I ought to crave pardon for this intrusion."

"Oh, Sir Jasper!" cried my lady.

Her husband turned toward her for a second. She wilted beneath his eye and sank into a chair.

"Oh, Sir Jasper," said she, maudlin, "the bishop has been very kind. I have been so unhappy about you."

"I see," said Sir Jasper, "that his lordship has been very kind. His lordship, as I said, has been administering consolation."

Her husband turned toward her for a second. She wilted beneath his eye and sank into a chair.

SUICIDE VERDICT OF CORONER'S JURY

Edward Ware Intended to End His Own Life.

Would Not Admit Drinking Wood Alcohol and Dies Without Explanation.

FUNERAL THIS AFTERNOON

Coroner Frank Eaker held an inquest into the death of Edward Ware. The verdict is as follows:

"We, the jury, empaneled to discover the cause of the death of Ed Ware, whose body is lying before us, after hearing what evidence was presented, find that he came to his death by taking wood alcohol with suicidal intent."

(Signed) H. D. Hayes, Jeff Read, Claude Creason, W. Y. Griffith, A. F. Williams."

Ware was found in the Sanderson wagon yard sitting in his buggy deathly ill. He said he had a congestive chill. He was removed to Rouse & Whittemore's grocery at Fourth and Jefferson streets and placed on some hay. Doctors were summoned. He was gasping for breath and vomiting. Wood alcohol was detected and matches struck to the liquid ignited it, showing that he had drunk wood alcohol beyond a doubt.

The body was removed to the Matl-Efinger undertaking establishment and prepared for burial.

Mr. C. B. Whittemore of the firm of Rouse & Whittemore grocers, at Fourth and Jefferson streets, who was the first to discover Mr. Ware, said:

"I walked into the Sanderson stable at 2:15 o'clock. I noticed Mr. Ware, whom I have known for a long time sitting in his buggy vomiting. He appeared to be in horrible agony."

"What's the matter Ed?" I asked. "I have a congestive chill," he replied.

I then assisted him into our store and laid him on some baled hay. I quickly summoned Drs. Johnson Bass, L. Thomas and H. P. Sights.

About this time Mr. Sanderson asked Mr. Ware what he had drunk and the reply was 'nothing but a glass of beer.'

Although the physicians arrived in a moment Mr. Ware was unconscious and died in about 35 minutes. All the doctors stated that he had taken wood alcohol."

Mr. Sanderson, owner of the stable, said:

"Mr. Ware arrived from his country home about 10 o'clock this morning and seemed in good spirits. Shortly before 2 o'clock he passed the stable office and I never saw him any more until Mr. Whittemore called to me."

The only things in Mr. Ware's buggy were several bundles containing:

Beer Is An Aid To Digestion.

A Well Known Physician Says It Increases Activity of the Stomach and Is Good Food.

Dr. I. M. P. Smithwick, of La Grange, N. C., who is prominent in the medical profession in his state and an authority on food values, agrees with other eminent physicians that beer is a wholesome beverage, beneficial to the health. In a recent interview Dr. Smithwick said:

"I believe beer to be a great benefit by aiding digestion and assimilation. I think it is of food value to the human organism, not only on account of the vegetable and cereal ingredients it contains, but also on account of the small percentage of alcohol present, which aids digestion by increasing the activity of the stomach."

Doctors say Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer is the beer to drink, the most healthful beer. It is richest in the food value of which Dr. Smithwick speaks because brewed only from Pabst exclusive eight-day malt and choice imported hops. All physicians say, "the richer the malt, the more wholesome the beer." Pabst exclusive eight-day malt is the richest malt made because grown from best selected barley and grown slowly, without any unnatural development. It retains in Pabst Beer all food elements of the barley in pre-digested form. Malt which is grown by the usual four-day process loses the vital food strength of the barley and beer made from four-day malt cannot be rich in food value.

Pabst Blue Ribbon is the superior of all beers in food strength, purity and cleanliness. It is aged for months before leaving the brewery and is the best beer to the taste, most refreshing and satisfying.

ing household articles he had purchased for his family.

His wife was notified and a neighbor brought her to the city in 35 minutes after the man was found.

Edward Ware was born in Christian county but came here when a lad. He was 44 years old and spent his younger days on the farm. He engaged in several different businesses here and resided in the Maxon Mills section of late.

Twenty years ago he married Miss Jessie Maxon, daughter of the late Morris Maxon. His wife and daughter, Cassandra Ware, survive him. His brothers and sisters, Erve Ware, Maxons; J. E. Ware, Los Angeles, Cal., and James Ware, Paducah; Mrs. Tom Jones, Memphis; Mrs. W. T. Albert, Maxon Mills; Mrs. Lige Ogilvie, Beaver, Oklahoma; Miss Ellen Ware, Maxon Mills.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Grace Episcopal church, burial in Oak Grove cemetery. The vestry acted as pall bearers, the deceased being a member of the church.

TWO CENT IS FARE FOR PENNSYLVANIA

The System Reduces Between Pittsburg and Chicago.

Recognizes Menace of State Legislation and Anticipates Such Action.

CENTRAL ASSOCIATION PLAN.

Last week a dispatch from Chicago to the Philadelphia North American said: The Pennsylvania railroad and the other railroads forming the central passenger association have applied for and have received permission from the interstate commerce commission to put into effect a 2-cent-a-mile passenger rate on lines west of Pittsburgh and Buffalo and east of Chicago. The change in rates is made necessary to comply with the Ohio 2-cent-rate law.

After announcing their intention of complying with the Ohio law, the railroads found they could not give the necessary thirty days' published notice, required by the national law, and still put the reduced rates into effect by October 1.

It was therefore necessary to obtain permission from the interstate commerce commission to make the reductions without giving the thirty days' notice.

The commission does not know whether the reduction in rates will extend all the way to Chicago or be limited to the state of Ohio, but as permission is given for Interstate business, and was not necessary for Interstate traffic, it is presumed the territory covered by the central passenger association.

"Two cents a mile will be the maximum passenger fare not only in central passenger but also trunk line territory, by October 1," was the prediction made by a prominent passenger traffic official following the meeting of the central passenger association today.

"The legislatures of several of the eastern states are determined to pass 2-cent laws, and many railroad officials believe that it is better to make the reduction voluntarily than wait until they are forced to do so. So far as my road is concerned, we are ready to make the cut."

This statement was made in discussing the action of the Erie in announcing a 2½-cent rate on its entire system. The official said that the action of the Underwood line was not unexpected by his company, and that he had no fault to find with it.

SIX YEARS IN POLITICS; BROKE.

Protege of La Follette, in Court, Says the Game Doesn't Pay.

Milwaukee, Sept. 18.—Colonel John J. Hannan, formerly private secretary for Governor La Follette and now holding a position as messenger of the United States senate and clerk of Senator La Follette's committee testified today before Commissioner Hazleton that politics was not a paying proposition. The colonel said that he was "broke" after six years in the heat of the political game. He was up for examination in a suit brought by a carpenter contractor for payment for work in erecting a grand stand during the Grand Army reunion in 1888. Colonel Hannan and some friends thought they saw a little money in the business, but their scheme fell through and they were unable to meet the bills. The only asset he had outside of his exemptions, Colonel Hannan testified, were 2,000 shares of zinc stock, which he was induced to buy by Henry F. Cochems and which he would willingly turn over to the plaintiff if he would take it.

LOWER FREIGHT RATES.

Illinois Manufacturers Plan a National Campaign.

The Illinois Manufacturers' association at a meeting last Thursday adopted resolutions condemning the present system of freight classification in the United States as unfair to shippers and as affording the means by which rates have been juggled and millions of dollars added to the railroads' revenues.
